"A paradox of church life is that when we focus on building a church we get an organization, even an institution. When we focus on making and developing disciples we end up with a dynamic church."

Gary Mayes, DNA of a Revolution, pg. 79

What if?

- You could disciple more people with less effort?
- Your approach could work any time, any place, with anyone?
- You could unleash a disciple-making flood in the church you serve?

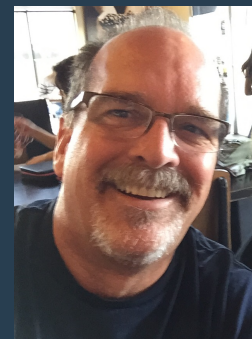

Contagious Discipleship will show you how. It is not a simplistic formula, but more like an art that is learned in minutes and refined for a lifetime. This training workshop is hands-on and highly experiential.
